So you will put cards down. You are obligated to put a card of the same suit as the first card in the middle if you have one otherwise the same suit as the middle square (game suit) else whatever you like but you will lose. If you have a card higher than the one in the middle and you have one of the same suit as the round suit (first card in center) then you must play any of these such cards (i.e. you must raise) else you must follow the previous rules. At the end the highest card of the game suit wins otherwise the highest card of the round suit. At the end you win with the most points. There are 120 points total (I think). After a round win if you reveal a king and knight of the same suit you get 40 points if they are of the same suit as the game, else 20. You can only do that once per pair. If you have all four knights or all four setas (standing up guys - 10s) you win the game.

TRUMP is the reason I lost tute ;(((((((((((
